

Contents

Sociophonetics, variation and gender

Language, stance, and identity at Selwyn Girls' High

Katie Drager

Framing gender variation in anatomical sex differences: the case of sibilant devoicing

Kevin Heffernan

Socio-cultural conditioning of the sex/prestige pattern: the local Polish context

Agnieszka Kielkiewicz-Janowiak and Joanna Pawelczyk

Māori women's role in sound change

Jeanette King, Margaret Maclagan, Catherine Watson, Peter Keegan, Ray Harlow

Making meaning through mocking: a case of the FAKE people

Stacy Lewis

Discourse, gender and language use

'Women Can't Tell Jokes' – Ideology in Interaction

Christy Bird

At the intersection of elitism and gender in Hong Kong advertisements of luxury residences

M. Agnes Kang

Managing motherhood: empowerment and neoliberalism in a postfeminist women's magazine

Kati Kauppinen

Examining gender in an autobiography and a children's novel: possibilities and challenges of applying feminist CDA

Sanna Lehtonen and Piia Varis

A CDA approach to reading gender construction in Malaysian children's literature

Ramesh Nair and Rosli Talif

'I'm such a small potato': gendered leadership discourse in Hong Kong workplaces

Stephanie Schnurr

Sexuality, sexual identity and gender

Terms of endearment? Power and vocatives in BDSM Erotica

Rebecca Dwyer

'She probably thinks he's hot!' Parents constructing heterosexual identities for and with their children

Stina Ericsson

The enregisterment of gay-sounding speech in non-gay media

Kristopher Geda

The media influence in setting salient issues: a case study of representation of homosexuality in Malaysian newspapers

Karamjeet Kaur and Ponmalar Algappar

'It's unfair to be a second-class citizen because of love': the legal, sexual and discursive struggles over 'gay marriages' in Spain

José Santaemilia

Building of gender identity through topic organisation: the discourse of a transvestite

Roberval Silva

Lesbian and gay parents' ideologies of 'family'

Sarah Wagner

Japanese language and gender

Turn-taking strategy and women's style-shift in Japanese conversation

Kaoru Amino

The discursive construction of hegemonic femininity

Justin Charlebois

Standard Japanese and heteronormativity: why do female native speakers of Tohoku dialects still feel ashamed of their dialects?

Shigeko Kumagai

Gender construction of young people through the Japanese language in popular culture

Keiko Miyata

Women's and men's languages as twisted heterosexual resource

Momoko Nakamura

How metalinguistic comments suppress subversive practices

Momoko Nakamura

Are they always direct?: male superiors' directive strategies in a Japanese workplace

Junko Saito

Leadership norms and verbal behavior of Japanese female professors

Kyoko Satoh

Self-reference forms used by Japanese parents and their norms

Kyoko Satoh

Masculinity and a male hero: the construction of a male hero and masculinity in the newspaper coverage of the National High School Baseball Championship in Japan

Ayako Tominari

Sexist language

Substantive disembodiment, syntactic embedment or the null effect of ‘feminist’ lexical change

Fabienne Baidar

Feminist linguistics and grammatical gender: a different perspective

Michał Jahns

‘I’m your girl’: revisiting sexism and naming practices in the public sphere

Tanya Romaniuk

Applications of language and gender research

The performance of gender as reflected in American evidence rules: language, power, and the legal construction of liability

Janet Ainsworth

What do fathers think? Arab-Muslim immigrant fathers’ perceptions of language maintenance and identity

Morad Al-Sahafi

“In Serbia at least I never heard that someone as a man decided to go on maternity leave but I can tell you that I will have no problem with that”: gendered professional identities, gendered discourses and their effects on employees in postsocialist globalised workplaces

Marlene Milgbauer

Assimilating radical new knowledge without a safety net: epistemological issues in teaching our field.

Amy Sheldon

Gender differences and apologies in English of Thai Learners: pragmatic and sociolinguistic perspectives

Siriruck Thijittang and Thao Le